BROOK

those were the days, my friends

we thought they'd never end.

bloomfield hills, michigan.

volume XLIII 1973.

Cranbrook is many stories, stories of classes attended, classes skipped, papers, exams, teachers, hassle stories of dorm life, valley life, no life. Of jocks and flakes, girls and friends. Of failures, of successes.

a year has passed at Cranbrook....

The Brook tries to recall some of the things about that year.

Ideally,
it would say all things to all of us at Cranbrook.

Realistically,
it can only be a partial picture.

"It's got everything I need — girls and sports."

-Jim Johnson

"Cranbrook is more than a school—it's a way of life."
-Geoff Dallemand

"For those with their feet on the ground, there is no limit to how far they will go. For those without, there is no limit to how far they won't go."
-Phil Brown

"The food is like
Russian Roulette;
every so often you get blasted."

-James Gilbert

"Cranbrook? It's an experience . . . IT"

-Lee Jackson

"A place where adults and students can grow up if they want to."

-Ed Dougherty

and so the reader is called upon to add

his own thoughts

"Cranbrook is a place where you can do anything you want, and it seems that's what everybody does—anything."

-George Booth

"Social life and disciplinary actions are Elizabethan."

-Charlie Ryburn

"It's a good place to get a good education
AND
have a good time."

-Pete Putnam

"Though at times it may seem a bit trying, I like this place. I really do."

-Clark Shuler

Those were the days, my friend,
We thought they'd never end.
We'd sing and dance forever and a day . . .

"Cranbrook is a conflict between a student's search for education and his search for himself."
- Norm Fall

"This place is something else!"
- Clet Moore

We'd live the life we choose,
We'd fight and never lose,
For we were young and sure to have our way.

Not so long ago
 There was a school Where we used to share A class or two.

Remember how we laughed Away the hours
 And dreamed of all
 The great things
 We would do . . .

Then the busy years went rushing by us;
 We lost our starry notions on the way.
 If by chance I'd see you in the hall We'd smile at one another and we'd say

Those were the days, my friend,
 We thought they'd never end.

Just tonight I stood before the schoolhouse, Nothing seemed the way it used to be In the window I saw a strange reflection Was that lonely fellow really me?

Through the door there came familiar laughter I saw your face and heard you call my name.
 All my friends were older but no wiser For in our hearts the dreams are still the same.

those were the days.

oh yes,

those were the days.

Is Cranbrook real?
Or is it just an imaginary world?

are these physical surroundings and the wealth at Cranbrook what the real world is like . . .?

Look
I
Let's see
Here
we are Look hard
Speak Soft
see
You see
We all see
Stop
Look
Listen
Beholder's Eye ..

Don't look now, but isn't that you?
... us?

to know what is impenetrable to us really exists manifesting itself as the highest wisdom
the most radiant beauty

to understand that
do not know
and can not understand
III
is
beginning of wisdom the eyes of young men are curious and penetrating, their imaginations are of a roving nature, and their passion under no discipline or restraint

. . . their minds are restless, turbulent, strong, and unyielding, as difficult to subdue as the wind.

here we go now, learning something new, something more, moving a little farther along the road that has no end — stuff and ways, conditions and meanings, problems and solutions, facts and fantasies, truth and untruth

we hear, we touch we talk too much of things we have no knowledge of.
we see, we feel yet can't conceive
how small we are
how little we know.

we see how the time moves swiftly by we don't know how we don't know why we reach so high and fall so low the more we learn the less we know.

too soon the time to go will come, too late the will to carry on and so we leave
too much undone,
how small we are
how little we know.

at Cranbrook
the knowledge and opportunity are here, you just have to strive to grasp it.

A Year at Cranbrook —

....a personalized history....

It seems like so long ago that I first came away to Cranbrook... but then it seemed like such a long time until graduation, which is tomorrow!
Anyway, those years were pretty good, I guess. at least that's what I seem to remember....

not getting settled was a hassle all those years! and that was just for the FIRST semester.

....some of the kids standing in line seemed to know each other, but it was kinda hard to tell if they were glad to be at Cranbrook or resigned to it like fate....

...they gave me a pretty nice room in the dormitories — a Detroit Lion had slept there, wow!! ... they gave me a good guy for a roommate, too, although he seemed to sleep almost as much as that foot ball player...

.... living at school wasn't so bad after you got used to the food — and the rules — and on the weekend I could stay up all night...

... going to classes was what Cranbrook is all about — although sometimes I didn't go, which usually upset the teachers.... most of the times I did go, I didn't have my books, though, 'cause they were always getting lost or ripped off from the South Lobby... the new lockers were a pain to use — too far away — and besides, it was a good excuse not to do your homework....

....the guys in my classes were all real smart.... even the girls... I knew most of the answers, too, except on tests.... I never was any good taking exams, really!

....there were lots of new courses being introduced to Cranbrook.... in the math department it was some sort of experimental geometry .. my roommate never seemed to have homework in it, but he got a good grade.... hmmm.... I never could do new math!

... studying was a drag, but if you were in the dorms, it wasn't so bad, 'cause most of us did other things instead... anyhow, I had this social science course and all you did was sit around and use big words....

...those who wanted to could do lots of other things besides study.... some of the guys got together and started a band.... real good music, they even played at assembly. . the middle schoolers played music, too, but that was recorders or something — we could hear them during 5th period class... you could be "creative" in other ways, too, like making a movie for film class.... mine never seemed to come out too good, though, but maybe that was because I never started them until the week before — or maybe it was the actors?

watching movies for your homework was lots of fun. anyhow.... heavy....!??

....then there was the chess club.... it was the only real club in the school, and they played EVERY day and EVERY place — even at lunch — I tried to learn but kept getting "mated", whatever that is... check, check, check... sounded like my teacher!

.... the sad part about music at Cranbrook was that most of the time the guys played only for themselves.. hidden away in that old building, they didn't get the recognition they deserved. ...

.... you didn't have to join anything, tho, to have some pretty interesting "experiences".. just enjoy the Estate....

.... then there was debate ... they didn't get much recognition, either, but then, who watches a bunch of guys arguing about federal aid to education? they won lots of neat trophies, tho....

... nature-watching at Jonah was fun, too... YIPPIE!

...after classes were over, we had to do "work duty". everybody had to do something, except if you were supervisor, or skipped out. then you got "hours", which really wasn't an hour, so it wasn't too bad.

... after school the faculty often had meetings... I went once, and they weren't very interesting - the meeting I mean... and smoky, eech...!

Once there was a special meeting about me... and I got to do some special work for "the community"... later, lots of us did.... never liked Saturday, anyhow...

.... of course there was SPORTS !!
I didn't like foot ball - too tough - and I couldn't run very fast, so I played soccer which was kinda fun, except sometimes the coach, he called us "babies", which is pretty strange if you're almost seventeen and can drive. GS was fun, too, especially in the spring when we played softball and flew Kites in the Valley... really high!

....one day they let us out of school and had something called
"community life day" .. we played games and helped each other and got to know each other better... even the faculty participated - most of them anyway. . Wow!
it was a great experience.

. during the winter, they began to fix up the school - painted the classrooms and halls and everything - in COLORS yet! . . . they also re-built a little wall back of the dorm.. started in December and finished just before spring vacation! they also took the shrubs out of the Quad by Hoovey Hall, but not everyone liked that... there were lots of interesting people at Cranbrook. . like the maintenance men... whenever you needed something fixed, like a broken window or thermostat they'd come and fix it.... sooner or later they were real great to talk to, though always willing to stop working and listen; maybe they helped more that way. .

.... another interesting person was the school nurse. . she was really helpful, especially sometimes when I didn't want to go to sports or had a test or something. ... we got along fine, except when I didn't turn in my medical form until January (it was due in September or sometime)....

. sometimes I went over to Kingwood. on nice days I walked, but usually I took the bus 'cause the trip was half the fun. if you were a day student, you could take a bus to school in the morning, too, but then you couldn't go 'cruisin' during free periods...

.... the real reason for taking the bus to Kingwood was to get to the girls, although supposedly you had a class or something... isn't co-ordinate education great?.. except they get better grades!

.. another reason for going to Kingwood was to eat have you ever eaten 6th period lunch at Cranbrook?

.. I mean, like when you walk into the dining hall and see the whole menu spread out before you. . on the tables, on the floor, on the chairs, and you haven't even gotten past the "faculty brats" yet.... oh well, at least you know what you could have had earlier.

no matter what else happened during a given day, somebody just had to give an assignment. and I wanted to watch TV.

.... one neat place to go is the library, unless you really want to get some work done.... they moved the library so now there are two, one to read in, one to talk in. and the lady librarians have a cookie jar...

.... sometimes after class we'd have assembly. . they were mandatory, which meant you couldn't leave early after you'd come.... some were entertaining, some weren't, but which depended on your point of view....

.. I tried to get TV-watching approved as my after-school project. as a "spectator-sport"... but couldn't get a faculty sponsor.

.... afterwards we'd assemble at Jonah.... not everyone came to that either, which was a good thing....

.... whenever I got sorta depressed, I went to bed.... that usually happened (a) before a test, (b) right after a test, or (c) when the test grade came out.... I sleep a lot, especially in the mornings, 1st period....

.... doing that depressed my teacher — also my grades....

next to the school is the Art Academy, where fantastic art - or is it fantasy - is produced.... the sculpture made from old pipes and lumber look, well, look just like old pipes and lumber.... I like the ropes from the tree best.... don't know what they symbolize, but it is art. won't it?? isn't it??.... please. . .

Cranbrook has a ski team. . . they let girls on it and even give them letters. . . sure, they ski better, but a co-ed C-Club? . . . shows what happens to tradition here!

. Cranbrook has a real band—a concert band? once they played during assembly. . everyone liked them, especially when they finished. . such applause—almost as loud as the band.

... sledging
in the Valley is fun even if there isn't any snow... actually,
it's MORE fun
that way Yippie!

... they put on dramatic musicals at Cranbrook, complete with singing, dancing, and some acting.
... sometimes the actors get so enthused they break things, but how do you break your toe doing the Highland Fling?
... and after the play, there are cast parties - oh, wow!

... hockey is just about the most popular winter sport there is, even for spectators.
... we used to go to the games and throw stuff on the ice, but now all they let us do is throw urinals.* ... too bad!

I've never figured out all those nicknames, but maybe it's because so many players have the same last name.... except why do they call their coach a nut? can't he skate?

* occasionally farts, too, but that's for the players.

those were the days,
my friends....we thought they'd never end ... but they did !..

the months and years were over—so were classes, exams, even friendships.

.. all that remained was summer, and then.. ???

faculty....

Indeed,
as Cranbrook's admissions department will tell you, Cranbrook's faculty IS unique, but uniqueness here lies not so much in this faculty's quality, which is admittedly superb, as in the fact that we, the students, have been subjected to the brilliance and eccentricities, to the very personalities of this group of men and women.

I will always remember John for the tremendous contribution he has made to Cranbrook. Not only to the school, but to the lives of all those who were connected with it and those who knew him personally. He was always ready to take on more than his share of the burden to insure that the school would function as a unit. John put his entire self into this school and my only hope is that he benefitted as much out of his stay at Cranbrook as the school has benefitted by having John as a student.

You say that one cannot approve my mode of thought What does that signify? Anyone who imagines he can prescribe a mode of thought to another must be quite out of his senses. My mode of thought is the result of my own reflections; it is part of my life, of my own nature. It is not my mode of thought that has caused my misfortunes, but the mode of thought of others."

In '67 Geoff dove deep into Cranbrook and surfaced in his senior year. He tried to know everyone and everything about the school. He was a determined runner and drew satisfaction from every mile. Music was a basic part of his character. He was neither a jock, freak, intellectual, good guy or bad guy, but a touch of each. He was the sole survivor of the '72 Moscow pox plague. Many thanks to all.

Gary spent most of his time on the soccer field perfecting his already booming kick. His professed aim was to "kick a ball into the lights" at one of the night games, with size fourteen feet there's not much doubt he'll do it. Whatever he did, Gary (affectionately or should I say reverently called "Sledge" by his teammates) performed with expertise whether it was booting a free kick above and beyond the goal or "Penalty Kick" at crashing someone into the boards in hockey. Six years is a long time to be known as one of Cran's babies, and eighteen years is a long time to know Cran's boys.

So you want a quote with meaning? Why not go and find one? Better yet, why not quote yourself? You've got a brain, why not formulate some profundity? I live the way I feel, most comfortable, and sometimes I do my own thinking. But you want something, some fragmentary phrase to help you grasp my character, some far-fetched and long-lasting truth. Isn't that so? The truth about anyone and anything is not in these dusty, ever-withering pages. They have no meaning except for us who wither long before these pages wilt. And perhaps a smidgeon of meaning for you biographers and historians of the future. Go! Turn this page! Turn all the pages! Close the book. The truth is in living. -CCL

Real stuff. The big brother? Out of control. Four-was never lacking in determination or good humor. It is because of this his presence will be greatly missed and we at Cranbrook will miss him just as much.

Never have I been so right so much, both academically and otherwise as in Cranbrook the "Education" I received at Kingswood will undoubtedly be unsurpassed for many years

As for Cranbrook it too will remain with me always as a help and a hindrance the good with the best outward as opposed to its work duty

You are the bow from which your children as living arrows are sent forth. The Archer sees the mark upon the path of the infinite and He bends you with the might that the arrows may go swift and far. Let your bending in the archer's hand be his gladness. For even as he loves the arrow that flies so he loves also the bow that is still.

Ayanend Tagore

It was years at Cranbrook, Gullu. Ayanendkanath for short dove into everything from Astronomy to Science Fiction. Ever ready to explore new horizons the school's diverse curriculum gave him great satisfaction. In the classroom he continued a tradition of quick, bright, but most often such jokes and unprecedented philosophical outbursts like "What am I doing?" or "... Huh... ?? ?" always stimulated his fellow classmates.

But a puzzle about Gullu still remains. How he could spend all day in the computer center and still manage to get A's and B's is one of the great mysteries of our time.

Apathy at Cranbrook. Those moments spent with friends. Those moments spent alone. So many Four years. It seemed so long to a scared freshman. It what toward "new horizons." But though I leave part of me stays behind. Goodbye Cranbrook. It's been nice knowing

When I remember this guy, I will recall not one Henry Whiting, but two. One is the sport enthusiast the guy with a golf club in hand, a hockey stick in the other, and a layout in hand for a golf course that wouldn't let Nicklaus break 80. Henry the sports fan should not, however, obscure the other Henry. The fellow who has been a real friend for three years. Good luck Henry. Maybe we can knock that intergal

It is the artist's responsibility to create a work of art that is both aesthetically pleasing and conceptually strong. The artist must be able to communicate their vision to the viewer through their work.

Creating a work of art is a process that requires a deep understanding of the subject matter and a strong sense of purpose. The artist must be able to translate their ideas into a visual form that is both compelling and meaningful.

middle school

Although the Middle Schoolers seem to do nothing but run and scream, they do find time to go to class

If children grew up according to early indications, we should have nothing but geniuses . . .

And still they gaz'd, and still the wonder grew - That one small head could carry all he knew you shall above all things be glad and young for if you are young, whatever life you wear it will become you, and if you are glad whatever's living will yourself become.

Although the Middle Schoolers don't play with the same finesse as the Varsity, they play with the same determination

There is a magic in the memory of schoolboy friendships; it softens the heart, and even affects the nervous system of those who have no heart . . .

the performing arts

Instruments like people mingle together creating out of harmony dotted quarters and half notes, valves and reeds at times leading us into our inner souls revealing the beauty of sound or plunging us forcefully into a world of pulsating rhythms a creator of moods a creator of emotions a creator of living sound writing, drawing, reaching for high notes striving to make sense out of black marks on white sheets creating beauty out of the plain creating harmony out of chaos teaching, scales warm-ups, humming all for one goal a concert to perform a song to sing, Learning to communicate through the language of music

Let's say, for argument's sake, that Sam Student is a typical, run-of-the-mill-type Cranbrook student. Let's also say, for argument's sake, that there is no such thing as a typical run-of-the-mill-type Cranbrook student. We'll make Sam a day student in the eleventh grade.

Sam drives to school in his new compact car after a well-balanced breakfast of orange juice and toast. Sam always drives about the miles over the speed limit and figures, since no cop has caught him yet, it must be O.K. He parks in a space by a light post, thinking that if another car wants to smash him, it will hit the post first, which is kind of a stupid reason because why would anyone want to smash their own car in the process. Anyway, that's how Sam sees the

Remember how we laughed away the hours And dreamed of all the great things we would do . . .

Those were the days, my friends,
We thought they'd never end . . .

Situation

Walking up from the parking lot, he decides he ought to wind up off campus before he ticks. Sam sees the new paint on the walls as he goes down the steps to the day boy lounge. Chamberlain grey, why couldn't they get the football court at least?

Some jerk has kicked the lounge floor the inside, so Sam bangs on the door for a few seconds. One of those nice guy students opens the door and walks out while Sam mumbles a halfhearted thanks. By now the floor of the lounge has been skuffed to death and Sam takes an oh well nothing can be done attitude and goes to his locker.

He drops off his books and cruises up to read the kiosk. The halls are one eighth filled with one eighth awake students all kind of sitting there talking, absorbed in a book or staring straight ahead. Strange. The kiosk is full of junk notices. For sale stuff. Come here notices. go there notices all junk. It's all a week old anyway.

Sam looks at his watch. 8:08. Might as well

We'd live the life we choose,
We'd fight and never lose,
For we were young and sure to have our way.

go to Algebra, he figures. A day without Algebra is like a day without sunshine. Somehow Sam wished the sun wouldn't shine this morning. Today he learned more about functions. It was odd the way they made Flxly. Towards the end of the period the halls started to erupt in a barrage of noise from the kids who were going to the 'wood'. Sam had a class there next period too. history.

It wasn't that ~~Sam~~ didn't like the class, on the contrary he was fascinated with history, but the bus rides oh blab! He would ~~would~~ wind up standing, hanging on in the seat hoping he wouldn't fall over or drop his books.

Kingswood's class ratio was fantastic. 7 girls to one boy. Now that he thought about it Cranbrook was the same way with directly opposite proportions. The bell rang after a 45 minute lecture on the amendments and Sam hurried to the Green Lobby to catch the bus. The ride back wasn't so bad, he was able to squeeze into a seat with a kid with the gift of incessant chatter. Sam ignored it.

With no class the next period Sam went into the library to read the newspaper, but somebody else already had it, so he read Popular Science instead. He finally got the paper. In sports yesterday the Pistons lost again, and the comics placed Snoopy in his dog house with Woodstock.

Just tonight I stood before the schoolhouse,

Lunch 11:15. Sam walked across the quad. It was a shame that all those names on the walk were getting chipped away. The line outside the kitchen stretched half way down the dining hall. Sam wondered what was for lunch. Today it was hamburgers. He would probably have to fight his way through the crowd to get some ketchup and mustard. He wasn't too hungry today so he had only one dessert, a salad and the main course. He sat down with his lock friends who were carrying on an intelligent conversation about hockey. Is there a game today, he asked. Yea, and man are we gonna cream these guys, was the reply.

Sam remembered he had science next period. He took his tray up and went back to his locker, via the kiosk, to pick up the right books. Nothing new, as usual wait a minute

 Ah how can they know it's time for them to go Before the winter fire we'll still be dreaming
